=====
LuciSearch is a program designed to help you index and search large numbers of text files without the hassle of setting up text file format parsers. This program lets you build and search indexes on any text file including APKs, mspaints, XMLs, zips, J2ME.mid and .bin files. There are two parts, the indexer and the searcher. The indexer takes in raw text and builds an index for later use. The searcher indexes files and searches across this index. After you search for the terms you want, the application returns a list of those files. The indexer and searcher are set up and run in the background after a start-up prompt, so you can use the application while you work. LuciSearch can index a directory from the command line with the following syntax: luci LuciSearch -c [dir or file] LuciSearch -i [dir or file] LuciSearch -d [dir or file] ...
