The most common site of involvement is the medial femoral condyle, although the lateral femoral condyle may be affected as well. OCD involves an area of cartilage that has failed to mineralize properly, and the damage is located most commonly in the growth-plate area. Three stages of OCD have been described. Stage 1 is characterized by the presence of small osteochondral flaps. Stage 2 and 3 involve the free flap and involve damage to the subchondral plate. The symptoms are typically non-specific, and diagnosis requires appropriate radiographic examination, with MRI or arthroscopy being particularly useful for evaluating the lesion. The subsequent treatment depends on the stage of the lesion. Arthroscopic debridement is indicated for stage 1 lesions, whereas stages 2 and 3 lesions are best managed with curettage and microfracture.You'll have plenty to celebrate when you subscribe to the Liverpool FC newsletter Sign me up Thank you for subscribing We have more newsletters Show me See our privacy notice Invalid Email Liverpool's owners will be barred from ever holding official authority at the club again, according to the club's new director of football Damien Comolli. of the Week by Ariel Fernandes The kid in me loves the idea of making and playing with things! This week Ariel introduces a Makerspace for kids: Mini Maker. You can find Mini Maker in your nearest MakerSpace or at The Making Things Together Conference on the web. As with Eric's Maker Mondays, Mini Maker is a weekly devo that runs for 4 weeks: a whole four weeks of making! Participation For this week, we're going to participate with Minecraft, Lego, and tons of other awesome things. ? You can join us on Twitter: tweet @Makercabusters. Use the hashtag #MkU2018. If you can make it this week, we'd love to see your work, or any other fun, creative thing! Resources If you want to see what Mini Maker is all about, check out the Mini Maker website: How to create this week's Makerspace This will be a hyper-linked post — for example, every link in the mini-maker will be to the site above. But, you can link directly from the URL above to the corresponding page in the list below. Mini Maker – Make A Thing of the Week! This week's project uses Minecraft and the blocks from a Minecraft download called "Lego". You can find the block downloads here: Lego. How to participate: First, we're going to start by covering a bunch of pre-work. We're going to set up a portfolio wall. We're going to get a copy of Paint and a Toner. We're going to draw some fancy shapes on something shiny, and we're going to print out templates of the shapes we're going to use. We're going to print out templates that we can then glue onto foam
